

Summary of ECD Global Alliance Internet Chat 22 July 2017

9 Attendees

- Some people logged on during the week. One said that they had painful neuropathy, mainly in their feet and legs. They are taking a low dose of vemurafenib and Kineret, and asked whether anyone else experienced neuropathy. They are aware that chemotherapy can cause neuropathy.
- We were reminded that those state-side have different times than in other places! In France and the UK it is late, while in the USA it is the middle of the day. For our members in Canada, some are in a different time-zone from the US.
- In France it has been raining for two days and the air is healthier now. It had been very hot and our member had suffered with migraine. He has courgettes, tomatoes, and other vegetables in the garden, and they needed the rain.
- Another member has a lot of kale to pick. She uses a vertical planter that allows it to grow.
- The demise of the Blue-Jays was talked about. One member has given up watching them. They are not playing well. It is "no fun rooting for them" and also depressing hearing the trades rumours.
